The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, May 14. 1717.

London, May 14.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

From the Hague Courant, dated May 21.

Temeswaer, April 26.

SOME Alarms having been made upon our Out-Posts, it has been thought fit to keep the Regiments that are hereabouts, except those of Aremberg and Old Lorrain, which are gone to the Camp near Tenta, eight Hours from this City. The Turks have given out Bread to 15000 Men for eight Days, and thrown two Bridges over the Danube near Orsova, to attack (as they give out) Count Merci.

Buda, May 4. The Regiments that were order'd to Buckovar, are now marching to Futack. Yesterday arrived here the Baggage of Prince Eugene, which will forthwith be sent forward to the Army. The four Men of War that conducted the great Convoy to Banzova, lie now near Titul cross the Danube Broad sides, to keep up the Water and facilitate the Navigation above.

From the Amst. Courant, dated May 20.

Vienna, May 8. Expresses come daily from Hungary, with the Confirmation, that 18000 Turks are come over the Danube, to encounter the Body of Troops under Count Merci before Orsova; whereupon the Princes Eugene and Emanuel of Savoy will set out the 12th, the rather, since the Tartars and Coruzzes are also endeavouring to break into Transilvania. Yesterday the last Man of War built here, was launched, but the Water of the Danube is not yet deep enough for those that are ready to fall down. The Empress is expected here to Day from Laxemburg, to receive her Mother the Dutchess of Blankenburg, who is likewise expected here in three or four Days, and her Imperial Majesty will tarry here to Lye-in.

From the Amst. Courant.

Munick, May 11. Two Days ago the Elector of Bavaria received Letters from the Court of Vienna, wherein his Imperial Majesty desires his Highness to lend him some of his Troops to serve in Hungary against the Turks. Whereupon a Council was immediately held, and it was resolv'd that six Batallions and four Squadrons, making together about 5000 Men, should march that Way, upon certain Conditions that are not yet publish'd; and accordingly two Batallions of the Regiment of Guards, two of the Prince's Regiment, the Regiment of Horse that came from France, the Regiment of Dragoons of Prince Frederick, both the Squadrons of Carabineers of the Guard, and the Grenadiers, are order'd to be ready to march to Hungary by the 5th of July. The Electoral Prince Charles Frederick, and Prince Ferdinand wait only for Advice, that the Bavarian Electorate Investiture be actually made at the Court of Vienna, to set out for Hungary.

Leipsick, May 12. 'Tis said that [illegible] enter the 24th upon the Choice [illegible] he Dioceſe of Naumburg; but [illegible] ted beforehand to secure [illegible] of Saxe Weissenfels, or [illegible] who serv'd in Poland [illegible] the King of Pol[illegible]

Dresden, May 15. The King of Poland is still at Leipsick, where his Ministers attend him. And he is daily in Conferences upon Publick Affairs, especially upon the State of the Administration of the Dioceſe of Naumburg, whose Bishop has espous'd the Romish Religion. The Canons solicite mightily for Leave to go to the Choice of a new Bishop, but 'tis not yet known what Answer they will receive.

From the Amst. Courant, dated May 20.

Berlin, May 11. Some are of Opinion that the King's Journey to Cleeve is put off, by reason that some Russian Troops are marching from Poland thro' Prussia to the Mecklemburgse, which his Majesty will take Order to prevent, and keep them from our Borders. The Emperor has again earnestly recommended to some German Princes to cause the Russians to depart out of the Limits of the Empire.

From the Amst. Courant, dated May 22.

Berlin, May 15. The King of Prussia is not gone to Magdeburg, as was reported; but remains at Brandenburg, where his Majesty this Day makes a Review of his Life-Guard, and will keep his Whitsontide there. Several Noblemen and great Officers are gone to see this Review, among the rest, both the Margraves, and Lieutenant General Denhof; but this last being also a Minister of State, 'tis suppos'd goes to his Majesty upon Civil and not military Affairs. The King is expected here the 20th Instant. A separate Revenue is establish'd for the Prince Royal, and the Generals Natzmer and Hackeborn, the Colonels Glasenap and Forcade, with some others, are to take Care of his Royal Highness's Education in the Absence of his Majesty. The Field Marshal Count Flemming, is suddenly expected here from the Court of the King of Poland, a great Part of his Equipage being already arriv'd.

From the Amst. Courant, dated May 20.

Paris, May 14. The Regent has sent an Order by the Abbot du Bois to the Commissioners named to examine the Dispute between the Lawful and the Legitimated Princes of the Blood, that immediately after Whitsontide they begin to discuss that Affair. 'Tis said, that the Duke de St. Simon, a Member of the Council of the Regency, who was very much against the Legitimated Princes, has alter'd his Opinion, but that however, that Matter will be issued in a few Weeks, to the Prejudice of those Princes. The Princes and Princesses of the Blood, and the Foreign Ministers have been to compliment the Czar. It cannot be discover'd that that Monarch has any particular Design in coming hither, other than satisfying his Curiosity by the Sight of the fine Places in this Kingdom. The Dutchess Dowager of Bourbon, and the Duke [illegible] that Name, have not only sent a consider[illegible] to the Count de Charolois, for his [illegible] Campaign in Hungary, but the [illegible] have also sent him 1000[illegible]
